BobCOST software system enables shops To quote jobs easily and accurately

Clearwater, Florida – Gone are the days of wishful quoting and guessing your way to profitability. The New BobCOST software system lets manufacturers easily produce quotes that are ready to send to customers.

BobCOST is the latest component of the BobCad-Cam suite of manufacturing production solutions. It was developed in partnership with Micro Estimating Systems, Inc., the industry leader in computerized estimating with over 25 years of software experience in helping shops effectively quote jobs. “The accuracy achieved with BobCOST can increase profits and significantly reduce the risk of losing money on work quoted at the wrong price,” said Mike Holland, Micro Estimating Vice President.

BobCOST features an intuitive software interface that quickly calculates all manufacturing costs. It contains extensive libraries for materials, machine tools, contacts, labor, currency and department databases, among others. Its formulas and built-in calculators make the quoting process simple and fast. It can also be used with just about any CAD/CAM product on the market providing seamless integration with your existing manufacturing solutions.

“Shops quoting jobs by hand will immediately reap benefits from switching to BobCOST, Shops using homemade Excel-based solutions will see improvements in quoting efficiency from the first quote they generate” said Larry Pendleton, BobCad-Cam Executive Director.

BobCOST software superbly complements the BobCad-Cam product line.

BobCOST’s competitive price allows “Every Shop in America” small and large to get started at a fraction of the cost of other systems.
